Yuri Tsvigun is a manager associated with companies in the field of land and property development projects. His name features in the history of Oilsi LLC and in publications concerning land at the ‘Stolichny’ market.

What can be seen in the company’s history

His full name is Yuri Ivanovich Tsvigun. The history of Oilsi LLC states that on 18 December 2020, he succeeded Kirill Senko as director. In March 2023, an entry regarding Tsvigun’s removal appeared in the history of beneficial owners. These dates allow us to describe his involvement during a specific period, without mistaking past records for the current situation. [1]

Another corporate entity is ‘Interbudzem’ LLC. The company’s records show that he was appointed as its director in February 2017; he is also listed as a shareholder in the verified company profile. The company’s main activities are engineering, geology, surveying and technical consultancy. This broadens his professional profile beyond the management of a single warehouse asset. [2]

Connection to the land sector

In an investigation by ‘Sudovyi Reporter’, Tsvigun is named as the head of ‘Oilsi’ – a company involved in the story of the market’s land lease. [3]

The National Anti-Corruption Bureau of Ukraine (NABU) announced the completion of a pre-trial investigation in August 2026. This announcement does not imply that a conviction has been handed down. [4]

This profile is based on verifiable corporate records and dated court and journalistic material. There is insufficient reliable information on his early career, education and date of birth in the verified data set; individuals with the same surname from other sectors have not been included in this profile.

This profile was updated on 30 September 2026. The information relates to the dates of the documents and publications cited. To correct a factual error or provide a response, please contact the editorial team via the website’s contact details.
