Vladislav Kaskiiv is a politician and former head of the State Investment Project. His career has spanned a path from civic and political activism and the Verkhovna Rada to the management of national investment projects.

His time in parliament

Vladislav Vladimirovich Kaskiv is known for his involvement in the 'Pora' political project. He was a member of the Verkhovna Rada during its sixth convocation; this period is confirmed by his official parliamentary profile. The biographical reference guide details his previous civic work and his involvement in politics in the mid-2000s. [\[1\]](#) [\[2\]](#)

National projects

After taking up the leadership of the State Agency for Investment and Management of National Projects, Kaskiiv represented the state's infrastructure initiatives. In an interview with 'Uryadovyi Kur'ier', he spoke about the LNG terminal and attracting investment. This is a useful primary source regarding the programme's stated objectives, but the promised targets cannot be automatically regarded as achieved results. [\[3\]](#)

Projects from this period require assessment in terms of contracts, actual funding and the fulfilment of obligations. When considering his career, it is particularly important to distinguish between the political conception of a project, the remit of the state agency and subsequent private investment initiatives.

Panama and his return to Ukraine

On 1 November 2017, Kaskiiv returned to Ukraine from Panama as part of an extradition procedure. 'Ukrainska Pravda' reported on the case involving approximately 7.6 million hryvnias and published his own account: he claimed that he had sought to return the funds voluntarily and had reimbursed the disputed sum. This position should be included in the statement of charges. [\[4\]](#)
