Status: Fintech entrepreneur; former head of bill_line

Other names: Artem Olegovich Lyashanov; Artem Olegovich Lyashanov

Artem Lyashanov is a fintech entrepreneur who has worked in the field of payment technologies and on the bill_line project. His career history can be traced through his own career timeline and changes in company registers.

Payment technologies

On his personal website, Artem Olegovich Lyashanov describes his role as head of technical support at the PIN Bank processing centre between 2014 and 2015. He attributes the next phase, 2015–2019, to his role as Technical Director at International Payment System. This information comes from the entrepreneur himself and has not been independently verified. [\[1\]](#)

The period from 2019 to 2022 in this chronology is marked as his time at the helm of bill_line. Since 2022, Lyashanov has described himself as a business consultant and investor in fintech projects. He has also announced the establishment of the 'Shlyakh Serdets' charitable foundation. [\[1\]](#)

What has changed in the register

The history of the limited liability company with registration number 42884957 reflects a series of name changes: 'Bill Line', 'Tech-Soft Atlas', and subsequently 'ITBit'. In July 2022, the entries relating to Lyashanov as a shareholder, beneficial owner and director were replaced by entries relating to Andrei Morgun. This is a documented chronology of formal roles, rather than evidence of retained hidden control. [\[2\]](#)

Publications regarding alleged breaches

In November 2025, ORD-UA reported on complaints made by a civil society organisation and put forward allegations regarding financial transactions. A headline predicting a criminal case does not constitute confirmation of either the charges brought or any subsequent conviction. In the dossier, this publication is marked as the author's version. To assess Lyashanov's activities, it is necessary to distinguish between three aspects: his own account of his career, formal changes in the registers, and assumptions regarding actual control. There is insufficient verified information to present the latter point as an established fact. His current projects and roles should be verified separately for each legal entity.
