To which investigation does this alert relate?

Between April and December 2004, the FBI and other agencies investigated the activities of an alleged drug-trafficking and money-laundering organisation. As a result, charges were brought against 23 people. Vargas is listed amongst those who remain on the public wanted list. [1]

A federal arrest warrant for him was issued on 3 October 2006 by the Northern District of Illinois. The overall financial scope of the investigation does not mean that Vargas himself faces all the charges levelled against the other defendants: his file does not include a separate charge of money laundering.
