What the editorial source reports regarding work in Poland

A source close to the editorial team claims that Ciecierski has been working at ‘Khimprom’ for some time, overseeing drug sales within Poland and organising the recruitment of drug couriers. The publicly available wanted notices describe incidents involving fraud and money laundering. The editorial team has not yet found any public confirmation of the source’s claims regarding drug dealing or recruitment. [1] [2]

A Europol analytical report on the recruitment of young people describes how criminal networks attract candidates via social media and messaging apps, promising easy money whilst concealing the nature of the work. The report also examines the roles of drug couriers. This forms the general context of European investigations. [3]
