Corporate link to AAX

OCCRP linked Wang and Su Weiyi via Xiamen Mingxin Danbao and Zongwang Digital Technology. However, the investigation makes a clear distinction between links in company registers and involvement in criminal activity: a corporate entry does not in itself prove joint money laundering. A spokesperson for Su Weiyi contested the conclusions regarding joint business operations and spoke of limited legal ties arising from a failed project. [4]

Su Weiyi in the AAX case cannot, without further verification, be considered to be the same person as the name rendered as 'Xu Wei' in the Russian transcript of the video.
