In a publication from an internal database, Nikita Dovger is named as his partner; teams in Kyiv and Odesa are also mentioned. In an earlier report, the surname was written as 'Kopernik'; the spelling used here is taken from a subsequent publication introducing the co-owners. [1] [2]

The publication contains details of several offices and explicitly distinguishes between the two networks. The author links one address in Kyiv to the Cherkasy circle, whilst the other office is attributed to a separate team. These groups are kept distinct: the fact that they are in the same city and are mentioned together in a single post does not imply a common owner. [1] [2]
